

Absolute Confidence

Is the expression used by persons in speaking of the ability of our Safe Deposit Vault to resist the attack of burglars. The construction of this vault was on plans adopted after a careful study of all that was good in every other make of safe.

Demand for Space

The demand for space in the vault was not confined alone to individuals, there was a call on the part of joint trustees and executors for a box large enough to hold large books as well as valuable papers. This demand is now satisfied, for we have boxes of all sizes from that for the wants of the individual whose papers are not too bulky to the corporation, or estate, that need roomy compartments.

Insurance is Low

The fee for the boxes is low considering the security and insurance they afford. One large enough to hold the papers of an individual rents for four dollars a year, the rate for the larger size is in proportion to the space. They are rented for periods according to the wants of the renter.

The conveniences offered by us are not surpassed by any company in the city. The elegantly appointed private rooms for the accommodation of renters who wish to examine their papers in private are appreciated. Access to the boxes may be had at any time during business hours, but no box can be opened without the attendant first using the master key in the lock. The large boxes, those suitable for estates, where there is more than one trustee, are arranged so that both persons must be present when access is had.

Inspection is invited and the officials of the company are always ready to answer questions of a nature familiar to them.

THE LANAI INJUNCTION

the removal of the head of the government from the place where he had to be to administer the functions of his office, the courts would remove him from office and this they could not do.

Applying the case to the present instance, Attorney General Peters contended that the instances were identical where a governor of a territory was concerned. The court could not enforce its process therefore the relief under the present method ceased, argued the counsel. The executive has to exercise its discretion in the enforcement of a law and in the present case where it was proposed to enjoin the governor from exercising his discretion, in the matter of approving the proposed exchange of land, the process was entirely out of order. The proper means of relief would be for McCandless, the alleged injured party to bring in a bill in equity to set aside the sale of the land on the ground that it was unlawful.

Peters contended that there were instances where governors of states were answerable to the courts in injunction and mandamus proceedings but they were not the state or territorial courts. They were the U. S. courts.

Judge Gear argued against the position taken by Peters. Gear quoted extensively from a Kansas decision wherein an injunction had been secured against the governor in the matter of performing some act in relation to a county. The case was argued upon its merits and the court held that the executive branch of the government was subject to the order of the courts but added that it was not altogether clear whether the governor himself was. Gear went still further into the matter citing a number of authorities from state courts which tended to sustain his contention that the Governor was amenable to such order of the court.

F. W. Milverton will argue for the dissolution of the injunction against Land Commissioner Pratt, an injunction that grew out of the same Lanai case.

CARTER TO WRITE HAWAII'S HISTORY

Then Dr. Barton excused himself from the group on deck and retired to his cabin, or rather he went to the door thereof and stood while the other reverend gentlemen, assisted by the press, dug up a Chinese boy to unlock the door of the stateroom that a basket of Hawaiian dainties might be left there. Messrs. Scudder, Gulick and Bingham entered with Dr. Barton, but the space being a little small for so many the meeting was transferred to the smoking room.

Dr. Barton was out this way ten years ago. "I was astounded at the great improvements which have been accomplished since I was here last," he said. He went on to say, while Mr. Scudder was for a moment absent, that Honolulu was possessed of a great worker in Mr. Scudder and that that gentleman was accomplishing much good.

"I am going to visit every one of our stations in China," said Dr. Barton. "I shall go as far as Shan Si. I do not know whether I will return by way of Honolulu or go by way of India where I have been before."

The other workers have reached India around the world the other way and are to meet Dr. Barton at Hongkong.

Remarking that Honolulu was a paradise and saying that only three weeks ago he was in Vermont's cold, Dr. Barton brought the interview to a close. He goes away armed with Hawaiian promotion literature.

Babcock To Leave Very Soon

ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN EFFECTED WHEREBY THE VESSEL WILL BE RELEASED.

Arrangements have been practically effected whereby the American ship W. F. Babcock will depart within a few days for Portland. She will be released under a bond of $40,000, if arrangements can be effected satisfactorily.

Captain Stinson was before U. S. Commissioner George A. Davis this morning, making a deposition relative to the recent disastrous voyage of his ship. Stinson was examined by Judge Stanley who with R. W. Breckinridge is acting for the vessel while J. J. Doherty is acting for the libellants.

The testimony of the first four libellants may be started this afternoon. There are 13 members of the crew who have libels against the vessel and four of the crew claim that they had the scurvy.

WATERSPOUT SEEN BY S. S. MONGOLIA

OBSERVED ON DECEMBER 23 TWO MILES FROM VESSEL—NOT BIG ENOUGH TO DO DAMAGE.

A waterspout was sighted by the S. S. Mongolia on her trip down from San Francisco on December 23.

The spout was discovered about two miles from the ship. It was traveling with the wind which was southerly and its course did not cross the path of the big vessel. Thick at its top and narrow at its foot, the black spout whirled along at a great speed. A few of the passengers on deck at the time, it was about the hour of breakfast, felt uneasy and one or two sought their cabins, but even if the spout had struck the Mongolia it is unlikely that any serious damage would have been done, for it had not completely formed; it seemed, and was not large enough, at the most, to do more than smash a life-boat or two.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES MADE BY PINKHAM

He did obtain, with the result that the examiners were misled and unworthy candidates were admitted to practice.

The medical and professional ethics of very many Japanese physicians do not correspond to those expected of and practiced by physicians of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Did these Japanese physicians confine their practice to their own race the force of the criticism might be slightly abated on the ground of custom.

The condition of affairs among many Japanese physicians throughout the Territory is not conducive to confidence on the part of the Board of Health.

I doubt if the present Board of Medical Examiners can be imposed upon, as their method of conducting examinations in the Japanese language (under protest) would seem to exclude any possibility of collusion or fraud.

At the present time there are three Japanese candidates before the Board of Medical Examiners, one of them I am convinced has been practicing medicine at Hilo, Hawaii, and vicinity, under the subterfuge of acting as aid to a licensed physician.

It takes charity of judgment not to severely condemn certain Oriental practices. An American would not receive the slightest leniency under the following circumstances:

A member of the Board has been approached by the interpreter for these candidates with a proposition that as he gets no pay for making these examinations they will pay him well for the time consumed.

There was sent to his residence a most elegant and expensive present, presumably with the compliments of the season. Although there exists no personal acquaintance, it will be retained simply as evidence.

Another member had a similar gift tendered him, but sent it back saying his acquaintance had been limited to one official interview and did not justify such acceptance.

The third member was interviewed, but beyond the inquiry as to whether the examination would be hard or easy, no advances were made.

The Board, of course, is above temptation or influence, but here is an unquestionable attempt to tamper with and influence the Board of Medical Examiners.

Such an attempt among Anglo-Saxon candidates would result in the Board of Health refusing a license on ethical grounds, no matter what the professional qualifications.

I presume the matter will pass as an incident.

I am, very respectfully,

L. E. PINKHAM.

President of the Board of Health.

GOT REGISTERED TITLES TO LAND

Judge Weaver of the land registration court has handed down two decisions in the case of John Emmeluth and the J. B. Atherton Estate, Ltd., for titles to certain lands in and around Honolulu.

The Atherton Estate gets a registered title to the Atherton place at Lualaba. This piece of residence property consists of 1.8-19 acres.

The Emmeluth property is a lot consisting of 2.773 square feet on Kekuaukua street near King. Emmeluth originally asked for a title to a larger piece of land but the territory claimed a strip of the lot for use as a public walk, so Emmeluth amended his petition to comply with the demand of the Territory. The title was granted him, subject to a lease and three mortgages.

use language. The Board has held that such examinations should be conducted in the English language. About three months ago, however, the Board conceded the matter and has since been conducting the examinations of Japanese candidates in their native language.

No action will be taken against the accused men. The Governor makes public the letter in the desire that the better class of Japanese will support the government in this matter and discourage such questionable practices upon the part of certain element of their countrymen.
